THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. FELL, Editor.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1865.

OUR TERMS.

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For six months, $5.00
For one month, 1.00
For two months, 2.00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once, who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

This body will meet in Raleigh, on the 6th of December. Members and Delegates on their arrival in the City, will please call at the Exchange Hotel. Special conveyance for baggage will be at the Depot on Monday and Tuesday, December 4 and 5. We have room for all, but if any members of Conference do not expect to be present, we should be pleased to have notice thereof.

B. CRAVEN.

Subscribers, etc.

A number of our friends owe us for subscription and advertising. We need the amount and will be obliged to our friends if they will send it to us by Express or by safe hands. The members of the Legislature will afford a good chance. The Sentinel will be enlarged in a few days.

The Legislature.

The approaching Legislature is a very important one. Its precise character, what are its powers and who are legal or proper members of it, are questions of serious import. Is it a constitutional body properly authorized with powers of general legislation, or does it partake of a provisional character, and consequently controlled and restricted in its powers by provisional or military authority? If it be a provisional Legislature, its acts must necessarily be provisional and temporary and must terminate with the provisional government. If it be constitutional can a part and parcel of the permanent or regular government of the State, what relation does it sustain to the provisional government, or the provisional government to it? If it be a regular Legislature, and persons holding offices of trust and profit, under the provisional government or under the United States, be legal members of it?

The government at Washington most certainly regards it as a constitutional and regular Legislature. It requires of it to adopt the amendment proposed by Congress, to the Constitution of the United States, which it could not do legitimately if it were a provisional Legislature. It expects it to adopt a code for the benefit and future government of the freedmen, to elect U. S. Senators, Judges of the Courts, to fill all offices declared vacant by the Convention, and to do all other acts of necessary legislation. The Convention expected this also, showing it regarded it as a regular body.

If this be so, what relation does the provisional government bear to the Legislature? What has that body to do with the offices or officers of the provisional government? Has the Legislature anything to do, except as a matter of courtesy, with revising the acts or correcting the administration of the Treasury or of the office of Secretary of State, under the provisional government?

Perhaps, there may be no difficulty involved in any of these inquiries. We have heard no one suggest an idea, in reference to the matter, and have simply thrown out such suggestions as have occurred to us, in reflecting upon the subject.

United States Senators.

The people are looking to the Legislature with much interest in the selection of two distinguished sons of the State, to fill the important position of U. S. Senators. It would be matter of rejoicing, if the lot could fall upon men who would be both the choice of the State and the choice of the nation. The selection, however, is to be made for North Carolina. They are to represent in the highest branch of the National Legislature, not the views, sentiments and principles of the people of Massachusetts or Ohio, nor the views of a faction or a minority of the loyal people of the State, but a majority of the true and loyal people of North Carolina.

The Legislature has an important responsibility to discharge in this matter. North Carolina has many sons whom she would delight to honor—many who would ably discharge the trust. But she needs at this juncture the most able, those in whom her people have entire confidence, and those who possess the widest influence both at home and abroad. The Legislature will remember that the State cannot afford, if she has a free choice, to attempt to please any one but herself in this matter. What two of her sons has she at this time the most esteem—she can most confidently commit her destiny to? Let the lot fall upon them and upon them only.

Official Vote for Governor.

But little if any further returns have been received since our last. We hope to be able to-morrow to publish the table nearly complete, and also the names of the members of the Legislature.

Small Fox.

A case now and then occurs in town and vicinity, mostly among the blacks. As yet it creates no uneasiness. We hear of no preparations for general vaccination. Is it not important that it should be done?

Our Judges.

The election of a Supreme Court Bench and of Judges for the Superior Courts will devolve upon the Legislature. There is no department of the government more essential to the peace and good order of society, than the Judiciary, and none more necessary in civil government. Permanency in the Judiciary has been found by experience to meet more fully the ends of good government—Were it possible for human governments to attain to uniformity in the exposition and enforcement of law, the highest point of excellence would be obtained. But this cannot be done or approached even, by frequent changes, of the Judiciary.

The political results of the war have vacated the benches of justice. The Legislature must fill the vacancy. Our former Judges did not soil the judicial ermine by acts which the laws of the State held to merit impeachment. They became involved in the general turpitude of the State, not by overt acts of offence against the State or the national government. The national authority in its clemency has pardoned and restored them, and they stand before the world as innocent. Is it too much for the State to restore them to their offices? We think not. All of them may not desire it. There are reasons which may and will influence some of them to decline the office. But this should be left to their choice. We believe the people of the State, influenced by that sense of justice, courtesy, and propriety which usually marks their "sober second thought" when acting understandingly, demand it of the Legislature, as due to their fidelity and faithfulness in office to the State. Differences of opinion may arise as to the qualifications of particular individuals, yet the delicacy of the circumstances it seems to us, forbid invidious comparison, and justice and right and propriety seem loudly to claim their restoration to offices, which they have not forfeited by any delinquency which makes them obnoxious to punishment, since even the cause which led to the vacation of their offices, has been removed by Executive clemency. We utter what we believe to be the voice of a large majority of our people, when we call upon the Legislature to restore the judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts.

The "Test Oath."

This oath was adopted by the Congress as a part of a series of war measures, designed we should judge, more to deter citizens of the United States from joining the revolutionists, or to become in any way leagued with it. Its object was temporary, to operate especially as long as the revolution lasted. Such was the general participation of the intelligence, integrity and the bone and sinew of the South, it could hardly have been designed to affect the Southern people long after the close of the war, if those concerned in its passage, were really sincere in desiring a restoration of the Union. It is evident, that a rigid enforcement of the oath, must cut off the government to a great extent, from the employment of that class of community, in the various offices required, so necessary to give influence and weight and confidence, which a wise government would naturally seek to rally to its support.

We believe that it is essential that the government should fill all its offices with sound, reliable and loyal men. We would not recommend any one for office, in whose loyalty and reliability, we did not have entire confidence. While therefore we would not by any means exclude any respectable, worthy, reliable Southern citizen from office, because of his devotion to the Union during the entire revolution, for there are honorable exceptions among this class; yet as a general rule, we should expect to find the truest, most loyal and most reliable men for office, who under all circumstances, have sustained a reputation for honor and integrity among those, who reluctantly felt compelled to abandon the old government when they felt that necessity impelled it, who united their destiny with their native States and waged the contest directly or indirectly to the end, honestly and faithfully, but who now abandon it as a hopeless cause, and return to their allegiance in good faith. True men may err once, but when they learn by bitter experience that their safety depends upon a return to the old paths, they may be trusted ever after.

There is however, another class of men in the South whom we could not trust so readily. Being factionists themselves, they are ever charging faction upon others. With an insatiable thirst for office and partisan success, they are constantly denouncing it in others. Governed by the test of self-led by passion, they praise to-day what they cursed yesterday, and vice versa. Hypocritical in their professions, they constantly condemn in others what they allow in themselves.

Such is the character of those presses and persons in this State who have warmly advocated the election to Congress from this State, only those who could take the "test oath." So far as we are able to judge, but one such man was brought out in this State, by the agency of those who pretended to be such strong advocates for sending members of Congress who could take the "test oath." Mr. Lehman of Craven was such a candidate, but he seems not to have made his mark even among those of his own stripe. Col. Russ in the fourth, and Col. Brown in the fifth Districts, were evidently the par excellence candidates of the "test oath" party. The defeat of Col. Russ they bitterly deplore, and the success of Col. Brown gives them great joy. Now it is well known, and none knew it better than those very advocates of the "test oath" candidates, that neither of those gentlemen can take the oath. It is well understood that Col. Brown must stand out in the cold with the rest.

National Express Company.

This Company is now prepared to do business in this State and with all accessible points. The object of the Company is, to give employment as far as possible to officers and soldiers of both armies, North and South, with due regard to competency and fitness, in order to success. We are glad to find that the Company has selected so competent an agent for this city, as our townsman, Col. W. E. Anderson. The public may expect that nothing will be omitted to give promptness, efficiency and confidence in the transaction of business. The employees of the Company will be looked to for an accommodating and polite demeanor and promptness and dispatch. The following appointments have been made for this State:

RALEIGH—Agent, Col. W. E. Anderson. Clerks, Lieut. Jno. McWilliams, R. F. Jones, Edw. Johnson, W. G. Briggs. Messengers, Maj. P. H. Sasser, Lt. Geo. S. Hines, Thos. N. Richardson on N. C. Central R. R., and Henry Hunter, B. M. Collins on R. & G. R. R.

The following from the New York Times of Wednesday embodies a suggestion worthy of consideration:

A MATTER FOR THE SOUTH.—There is no doubt that the general operations of the Freedmen's Bureau have been eminently favorable to the restoration of order and labor in the Southern States. The existence of the Bureau was limited by act of Congress to one year after the termination of the war, so that unless further special legislation is taken by the coming Congress, it will cease to exist next spring. In the meantime the Legislature of all the Southern States which will be in session except those of Florida and Texas—should promptly take up the question of the Freedmen's rights and relations, and establish such laws and regulations as are demanded by justice and humanity. It would be much better that the whole matter be in the hands of the Southern people and the respective States; and if they evince a purpose to treat the question as the circumstances demand, Congress will leave it entirely to their jurisdiction, by taking no measures for perpetuating the existence of the Freedmen's Bureau.

Major General Thomas has publicly censured the members of the Court Martial convened to try Emerson Etheridge, for summarily closing the case and acquitting the accused. But he does not think it necessary to call upon the court to reconsider its findings, and yet after expressing his belief that the evidence clearly established the guilt of Mr. Etheridge, he directs that the latter be immediately released from his parole and set at liberty.

The Norfolk Post says of a colored lawyer, who has been chosen to represent the colored population in the Freedmen's Court: Mr. Calvin Pepper yesterday applied for permission to practice at the bar of the Circuit Court in this city, but his application was refused by Judge Baker, because he failed to produce a diploma, or certificate that he had ever been a practicing attorney.

For the Sentinel.

Atlantic Rail Road.

EDITOR DAILY SENTINEL:—The President of the Atlantic and North Carolina Rail Road Company will doubtless thank you for calling their attention "to the constant complaints which we (you) hear are made by shippers in regard to the detention of their goods."

I am informed that many of those complaints are well founded, because the Company have been pressed by freight which had accumulated previously to the delivery of the road by the Military Authorities. Every effort, however, is making to remove all just cause for these complaints.

Although the Road was delivered to the company with the rolling stock run down, engines and cars have been secured from the Government, and arrangements are in progress to secure additional rolling stock.

The company have been transporting since the delivery of their road, much more freight than at any period since its organization, and as fast as connecting roads would receive it.

They are now running two freight trains daily, and they expect to run accommodation cars for Express freight and passengers, within a few days.

The President and Board of Directors purpose and desire to operate this road, the entire road, without favor, fear or prejudice, against any particular section of it, and only in friendly competition with other roads.

A commission forwarding merchant either at Morehead City or Newbern, may tell you in truth that he does transport things from his place of business to Goldsboro which is twenty five miles nearer to Newbern than to Wilmington, in four or five hours, and that he receives them from New York both by steam and sailing vessels at these places, which are more than one hundred miles nearer to New York than Wilmington.

I am informed that the A. & N. C. R. Road has carried to Newbern and Morehead City four fifths of the cotton &c., for shipment North from the North Carolina Rail Road, and is receiving at present heavy freights for the interior of the State. Still, shippers need not look to sending their goods from New York to the interior of North Carolina through other points—for facilities will be made by the A. & N. C. R. R. Co., as fast and as great as may be required. The present pressure will be relieved soon, and will be remedied in future.

Let the business come. The road will do it as quickly and cheaply as any other connecting road. And the business public, if they will study for themselves, may learn the facts.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]
Our Relations with France.—The Mexican Question.—Frustrable Likely to Arise.—Ministers to the Republic.—The Effect on Southern Representation in Congress, &c.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—There are intimations that the French Minister, Montholon, is in bad temper concerning our management of relations with Mexico, and predicts serious consequences. It will be recalled that Maximilian proclaimed the forces of Juarez, or of the republic, to be bandits or other outlaws, who are to be shot on sight. The government of such forces we recognize by sending a Minister to that sort. I do not attribute importance to the story that Napoleon III. is about to withdraw the French troops from Mexico. It is strange that he should refrain from sending African troops there, and it is perhaps more strange that our abolition or republican statesmen should object to the color of the men that were to go.

There are those of little faith who think that Gen. Logan and Mr. Browning will not go to the Republic of Mexico at all, or if they do, it will be at so late a period that there will exist nothing to be accredited to. Regarding this light the French Emperor, unless he is "spilling for a fight," may pocket the insult, rather than run the risk of losing Mexico by going to war about the nominal affront.

If serious difficulties shall spring up with France, they will be urged as a reason why the Southern States should be represented in Congress. Things are somewhat in the dark in this respect, many being of the belief that the President will add other requirements yet, as conditions precedent to their admission.

The recent reports of the fitting out of a formidable naval fleet by the Government, are untrue.

Mr. Burlingame, our Minister to China, is here.

Freedmen's Bureau.
We find the following important Circular issued from the Bureau in this city, published in the city papers, which we copy for the general benefit:
Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen & Abandoned Lands.
H. Q. ASST. COMMISSIONER, STATE OF N. C.
Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 10, 1865.

Circular, N. 4.

All officers and agents of this Bureau, and teachers of freedmen, will publish as widely as possible, the following instructions:

I. In view of the fact that government aid now given to the destitute may soon be withdrawn, freedmen now living in camps, colonies and towns, are directed to support themselves.

II. Officers and agents of the Bureau will issue no more rations to any refugees or freedmen who refuse situations where they might earn their support. While the innocent and well disposed will be protected, vagrant idlers who try to live without any honest calling will be promptly arrested and punished.

III. Paupers will, as soon as practicable, be turned over to the "Wardens of the Poor" for support, and officers and agents will co-operate with such Wardens in providing for the infirm and helpless. Until ample provision is made by the civil authorities, such persons will not be forcibly removed from the plantations where they were living at the close of the war.

IV. Orphans and children of parents who have no honest calling, or visible means of support, and other minors, with the consent of their parents, may be apprenticed to some good trade or occupation, in accordance with the laws of the State applying to white children. Every effort will be made to provide in this way, good homes for all minors now dependent upon the Government, that they may not become vagrants and paupers.

Congress--The True Line of Policy.

Within the next three weeks the Federal Congress will assemble. When last in session, the country was in a state of war. There was a division of North and South, and great armies were then struggling for victory. When last in session it was a Northern Congress, a war Congress, an excited Congress. Its legislation was all inspired by a hatred for "rebellion and for rebels," and by a determination, at whatever cost of men and money, to put down that "rebellion." It will now assemble under very different and less exciting circumstances. Those armies have met in the shock of battle, and victory has perched upon the Union banners. The conquered armies have laid down their arms, surrendered, and been disbanded. The men composing them have returned to their homes, and are engaged in the peaceful occupations of life. In the pleasing language of the inspired volume, their swords have been beaten into ploughshares, their spears into pruning hooks.

The approaching Congress will assemble in a time of profound peace, with not a billow to disturb the national tranquility. It will assemble not only in peace, but with the flag of the Union restored to all those places from which, for four years it was absent. War was waged to restore the Union. That grand object has been accomplished. The first measure of Congress should be to recognize that fact. To refuse to do so, will be in effect to recognize, what it has all along denied, the secession of the Southern States and their absence from the Union. They are either in the Union, as President Johnson says, and "have never been out of it," or they carried themselves out by secession. No one, not even Thaddeus Stevens, who holds that, in consequence of being treated as belligerents, they may be "held as conquered provinces"--no one, we say, can deny them restoration to the Union without recognizing both the right and the fact of secession. This right the Southern States no longer claim. They staked it, along with slavery, upon the wager of battle, and lost. In 1861, 1862, 1863, 1864, and the early part of 1865, Congress would not let them secede, fought to prevent it, gained the victory, and now, in the latter part of 1865, will it be so inconsistent and self-contradictory as to say by its action that they are not in the Union, and hurl them back into secession, when they don't ask it and don't want it. This would be a danger precedent to establish and would, besides, refute and stultify the severe logic of the war, to say nothing of making that war, with all its expenditure of blood and money, a vain and barren work.

Everything conspires to put the representatives of the Northern States in a good humor. In the recess of Congress everything fell out according to their wishes. The war ceased, peace returned, the South acknowledged the supremacy of the Constitution, gave up secession, gave up slavery, took the oath of amnesty, sued for pardon as a relief from confiscation, held elections in the manner prescribed at Washington, and complied with all the requirements of the President. Affairs have turned out precisely as Congress desired, and there is nothing in the present attitude of the South to excite resentment and provoke measures of punishment and revenge. The Southern people have had punishment enough. To degrade them by exactions, and oppress them by punishments, to that point at which self-respect, honest pride, and the sympathy of a common manhood are lost, would be to make them bad citizens for all time to come.

The President takes a sagacious view of this whole subject, and is dealing with them like a man of experience, of knowledge of mankind, of common sense and good feeling. These qualities have influenced and guided his statesmanship. If Congress will but co-operate with him, the affairs of the whole country will soon be composed; former divisions will not only be healed, but all traces of them will be obliterated, and the country will be once more united and placed on a solid and enduring basis. The Southern people will go earnestly to work, the farmer to his fields, the mechanic to his trade, the merchant to his business. It is as much to the interest of the North as of the South that the status of the South shall be especially fixed, for until that is done they will not be in a condition to raise those staples and develop those resources which have in times past formed a large, and in times to come, will form a larger portion of the wealth of the country. Nor will they be in a condition to bear their share of the common burdens and contribute their proper portion to the national revenues. Rich. Whig.

COLONEL LAMB.—The Norfolk Day Book notices the arrival there of Colonel Lamb, so well and favorably known to the people of Wilmington.

TELEGRAPHIC.

By the American Telegraph Company.

Shenandoah Arrived, etc.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.

Steamships City of London and New York left Queenstown on the 9th, have arrived. The Confederate war steamer Shenandoah had arrived, and Mercer had been delivered to the Naval authorities. Waddell states that the first information received of the close of the war, was on the 30th of August.

The London Star says if the Shenandoah is claimed by America, there is no reason for refusal. Lord Russell as Premier and Lord Clarendon as Minister of Foreign Affairs, have been installed.

Florida Convention.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.

The President has been advised by telegraph that the Florida Convention has annulled the ordinance of secession, abolished slavery, declared no person incompetent to testify as a witness on account of color in any matter wherein colored persons are concerned, repudiated the State debt, amended the constitution in other respects and adjourned.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Proposals for carrying the mails in Virginia, West Virginia, the two Carolinas and Florida have been opened at the Department. Many of the bids are at a very high figure, so much so as will doubtless prevent their acceptance. The Postmaster General will accept those which are at all reasonable.

The statement that the Secretary of the Treasury designed making a wholesale proscription of female clerks, so as to provide for disabled soldiers, is unwarranted; only such changes will be made as are called for by official efficiency.

Bill Arp's Last.

Bill Arp so called has delivered himself of the following letter of acceptance of the Congressional nomination, tendered him by his friends of the Seventh Congressional District.

From the Atlanta New Era.

Bill Arp—Candidate for Congress for the Congressional District.
Since my recent article on the State of the country I have concluded to become a candidate for Congress. It is no use letting Union sneaks hear all the field to themselves—especially them that refused North when Sherman came along the way and put his horse in my stable. I never felt North myself; but I did run South a little faster than was comfortable. I was so sure we'd whip old Sherman that I never made no preparations to skedaddle until he was down on us like a thousand of brick; and then there wasn't no time to pack up my traps; or in skriptor fraze, to "take up my bed and walk."

Sans habillement—Sans ceremonie. I left my bed and board—bidding them a long and final adieu, having pledged myself, as all distinguished men of the Reb pursuasium had repeatedly done, never to submit to Abe Lincoln or reconstruction. We were all to die in the last ditch, especially me, and Jeff, and J. and I golly, I thought our time had come sure enough; but I preferred not to die in the last ditch; and consequently, I kept skedaddling across every ditch I came to, hopin' smotherin' enouragin' might turn up before I reached the last one; but it didn't turn up, and me, and Jeff, and all the rest of us, who had been keepin' safe distance from bullets, found ourselves in the last ditch. Well, the fact is, we didn't feel half as much like dyin' there as we expected to, before we got there; and soon a question arose whether we should go back under the Abe or die. Well it is no talk in; we didn't want to die, so we concluded to take the amnesty oath and go back. We took it, all of us, but Jeff, and he expects to take it before long.

But I'm forgittin my Candidacy (as Stewart says in his circular) but its no odds of I do. There plenty more that skeddaddled when I did, and didn't dye in the last ditch neither. All I want for us who didn't dye in the last ditch, when we had a chance to, to be sure to get into position again, and have all the offices; and to drive off Union sneaks, and take all their greenbacks, and konfiskate all their lands; and in the language of Jo, to the Legislature: "drive their wives and children after them, ho-iseless, homeless, penniless and starving." The man that can go to congress with this object in view is the man of my choice. Eff thought I couldn't serve you in ridding the South of stubborn old Union men, and getting all the offices ourselves you couldn't send me to congress.

I am a workin man. I helped work up the big fire. I worked hard to keep the fire again without lettin any myself, and succeeded so well in workin to keep out of fire, when every body was wantin, that I think I have sufficient reputation as a worker to entitle me to your support.

B. A.
P. S.—I had intended this for publication in the Rome Courier, but the Editor, (durn him) wanted to charge $10 dollars for it, so I konkluded to write out a few copies myself, and to get some of my Gee tiger unharmonized winin of my acquaintance to write some copies for me and give them general circulation. B. A.

SHOOTING AFFAIR.—We learn that on yesterday evening about half past five o'clock, a difficulty occurred between Mr. Joo. C. McIlhenny and Mr. Wm. Lane, in which the latter was severely if not fatally wounded. Mr. McIlhenny and Wm. Watters, Esq., have been bonded in the sum of $10,000 to appear before Justice Conley this morning, at 10 o'clock. We forbear publishing the particulars until the examination.

P. S.—Since the foregoing was written, we have learned that Mr. Lane died soon after he was wounded. Wil. Dispatch, 16th.

Two men, survivors of the party of fourteen, who escaped from the wreck of the Republic on a raft last month, were recently picked up off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina, having gone eight days without food or water. There were twelve companions all perished. One more boat from this ill-fated steamer now remains to be accounted for.

The Tennessee Legislature has authorized the Governor to issue new bonds for the railroads of the State to the extent of the State endowments; also for the funding of the State debt as it matures, together with the interest in part due or to become due on the first of January, 1866, by the issue of new bonds.

The Next Congress.

Speaking of the next Congress, the Mobile Register and Advertiser, truly and sensibly says:

"Advice has been volunteered to the South by persons meaning to be friendly, from the North, to send as representatives to Congress such men as could subscribe to the oath of office adopted by a Radical majority when the war feeling was at fever heat. While this counsel was meant to be friendly, and had for its object the speedy admission of the representatives of the South to seats in Congress, we cannot think it wise. The whole question is in a nutshell. Either the South is to be represented in the legislative councils of the Union, or it is not. If it is not, then the forms of election might as well be dispensed with. President Johnson will declare the late 'rebellious States' restored to the Union as soon as they shall have made those organic changes which he has pronounced as necessary to that end. These States can then quietly go on with their local governments, and their seats being vacant in Congress, that body will have to get along the best way they can with the solution of the old English and American principle of 'taxation without representation.' In other words, those States will have nothing to do but quietly wait until reason and good feeling resume their sway in the national legislature."

"But if on the other hand, if these States are to be represented let them be represented. Can any sane man say or believe, that a Southerner who could conscientiously take the 'iron-clad' oath of office, was a representative of the South? To be sure, we might send men there whose hearts have not beaten with a single throb of sympathy with their constituents for the past nearly five years, and call them representatives, but would they be representatives? It would be a farce, not only creditable to us, but fruitless of good to the South or the North. It would be a sham of representatives, alike undignified and unprincipled, and one we hope never to see put in practice. The true course is to send men to Washington who do actually represent the interests and the sentiments of the Southern people, and then leave it to time and good feeling of the North to determine whether or not it is in earnest when it took up arms and waged dire war to preserve the Union; or whether, now that it has been saved, and is offered to its acceptance it purposes to stultify its acts and belie its words by rejecting it. The South can afford to bide its time, and wait for the award of the sound judgment of the people of the North and West. When we of the South have accepted the judgment of arms—have complied with the requisitions of the President, and sent our true Representatives to Washington, we have done all that honorable men and true patriots at the North can or will require. Let us not demean ourselves for the purpose of conciliating radical disunionists, and thereby creep in by the back door of Congress."

VALUABLE AND DESIRABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

ON THE 20TH DAY OF DECEMBER, THE SUBSCRIBERS will sell at auction, for cash, the site on Cape Fear River at Fayetteville, where the Clar endon Bridge formerly stood, including Toll House, the Land on both sides of the River, Piers, and whatever is left of the property. The sale will be made on the express condition that the purchaser is to build a new, double track, covered bridge, the length of which will be six hundred feet or thereabout. The site is very desirable to persons having the necessary capital for the work to be done. There is no bridge now on the river. The investment of money in this contemplated work, so near as it is to a large market town, must prove largely remunerative.

at his old stand, where he will be happy to see them and sell them great bargains in his line. He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say anything of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only, but for the last 15 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. Call at store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

MRS. FENTRESS has opened a Boarding House next door, about 150 yards from the Capitol, where she will entertain members of the Legislature or transient Boarders.

A CARD.

THE SUBSCRIBER WOULD RESPECTFULLY call attention of the Ladies and Gentlemen of the City, and the public generally, to a large and beautiful stock of goods comprising every thing that is needful to complete a wardrobe.

For cheapness there is none that can compete with the house of Messrs. Bowen & Randall, No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C. Call and examine his goods before you purchase elsewhere, and my word for it you will find cheap goods.

A new supply of goods has just been received and he will continue to receive them by every steamer that arrives.

The strictest attention will be paid by Mr. Bowen, the proprietor, and his clerks, to those who give him a call.

Make no mistake. Be certain to call at the store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, on the corner of the vacant square.

LARGE AND VALUABLE SALE.

ON THE 15TH OF DECEMBER NEXT, WILL BE sold to the highest bidder, all of the crop, house hold furniture and perishable property of the late Alex. S. Jones, deceased, consisting of 250 bushels of Corn,

250 bushels of Wheat,
50 stacks of Fodder and Oats,
2000 pounds of Seed Cotton,
50 head of fat Hogs,
150 " of one Hog,
13 " of Horses and Mules,
4 yoke of Oxen,
30 head of Cattle,
50 " of Sheep,
Wagons, Carts and plantation utensils of every description.

The sale will commence on the upper Shoos plantation, and continue from day to day until finished. Terms—Six months credit payable in specie or its equivalent in currency. Bond and approved security required before delivery of the property.

L. J. JONES, Adm'r.

Warren County, Nov. 16, 1865.

I offer for rent for the year 1866, the two large and valuable plantations of the late Alexander S. Jones, deceased, consisting of about one thousand acres each, lying on Shoos Creek, and containing some of the best land in Warren County. The lands are admirably adapted to the growth of cotton and tobacco, and the chance for the next crop is excellent.

On each of the plantations a wheat crop has been seeded. If not privately disposed of, they will be rented to the highest bidder on the day of sale.

FACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

THERE ARE BUT FEW SUBJECTS PRESENTED to the mind of man upon which there are not a great variety of opinions, and about which there are not protracted discussions. But there are a few facts so well established, and so uncontroverted that they are universally assented to. One is that all men now living, will soon be called upon to gather up their feet and depart to the land of the dead. "One generation cometh and another cometh, and we have no abiding city here," is a matter about which there is no dispute. Another is, "Of that day, and of that hour, knoweth no man." Whether death cometh at the twelfth hour or at the cock-crowing, is of equal uncertainty to all.

Another is, that when wife and children gather around us to take their final leave, in that sad circle enters all our earthly interest. The last earthly rational thought of Husband and Father, is Wife and Children (if worthy of sustaining such endearing relations.) Another is, no man living knows what may be the result of his efforts to secure a competence for his family. "Who takes to himself wings and flies away," has been realized by how many? adverse winds of to-morrow, may take the place of to-day's prosperous gales; under currents which the most penetrating eye cannot see, or the strongest arm cannot control, may in an evil hour sweep away the hard earnings of years. Another is, no man ever has, or ever can assume more sacred obligations, than Husband and Father. Hence it is said, that he that will not provide for his own household is worse than an infidel.

Now, what Husband and Father is there battling with the difficulties of life, knowing as he must, that uncertainties attend every effort, and wait upon every enterprise, that he has not with earnest voice, and anxious heart, called to the future to unlock his barred gates and reveal to him the result of this or that undertaking. But the only voice that comes from that land of silence, is, "Verily, thou knowest not what shall be on the morrow."

Each are some of the few facts about which there is no controversy, and such are some of the uncertainties that ever have, and ever will, gather around our pathway through life, and which have in generations past, and will in generations to come, trouble and oppress the Husband and Father. Now in view of these facts, responsibilities, and under auster, it is for you to judge and decide upon the propriety, necessity, and duty of making a policy on your life for the benefit of your family. Will it not relieve you of your present anxiety to know that a certain portion of the fruits of your labors are secured to that family? Remember that whatever you pay for a life policy is paid to them. The stranger intermeddles not with that.

Remember also, that $500 paid to them in that day when the heart and flesh shall fail you, will be more to them, than $10,000 while you are here to provide for them. Also remember, that the amount for which you are insured will not be diminished in the settling of your estate, and that from generation to generation, life insurance has answered the end for which it was ordained, as fully, as say to the least, as any institution of man's creation, and that its primary object was, and still is, to secure the family against the stern realities of want, and to relieve from corroding anxiety those who have assumed family responsibilities.

Do you say, "I know it would be wise in me to take out a policy and I intend to do so soon; but just now I want to use all my funds in my business."—Friend, if it is wisdom in you to leave at all, it is folly to defer it, to-morrow is in eternity, therefore "Hast not thyself of to-morrow," "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."—Procrastination is the thief of time.

The Aetna Life Insurance Company offers you all the inducements to insure that can be found in any company. Its assets are over a million and a half. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to insure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is insuring monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates for insurance are as reasonable as those of any other well established responsible Company. It is paying as large dividends to its policy holders as any other Company. Its officers are competent business men. Its assets are as permanently and as safely invested as any other company can invest theirs, and from which as good interest is being received. It pays its losses as promptly, as is particularly in the character of its risks, and as yet it is a stranger to litigation.

Mrs. Reid's Rheumatic Ointment. INDIAN TOWN, CHRISTIAN CO., N. C., Oct. 17, '65.

Mrs. S. A. REID:—I take pleasure in stating that I have found great relief in the use of your RHEUMATIC OINTMENT.

After suffering fifteen years, and trying every remedy, I could get no relief from three weeks only.

As I could not get it after the mail was stopped. I have been unable to give it a fair trial, but have suffered very little pain since, and now walk without a stick, which I have not done for 5 or 10 years.

Very truly yours, J. F. GARRENTON.
